Mitchell Troupe in their act
at Main and Pickaway-sts.;
The Conley Trio at Court
and High-sts at 3 p. m.;
The Four Allens at Main-st
and Western-ave at 4 p. m.;
The Flying Arbaughs at the Court House at 5 p. m.; Walter Shoop, popular accordianist, will be on the streets all through the show,
featuring popular songs.
Thursday's music will be
the American Legion Drum Corps, the School Band, the Hallsville band, and the Lancaster Liberty band.

Here's the official program for Wednesday evening's grand opening of the 28th annual Pumpkin
Show, as decided by directors
Wednesday:
7 p. m. Chimes selection in the tower of the courthouse on the Foreman chimes by Nelson Sway-er.

CONCERT TO FOLLOW
The band concert, under the direction of Prof. C. F. Zaenglein, which will take one-half hour
between 7 and 7.30.
Immediately after the chimes
Lillian Arbaugh in her Spanish
Webb act and the Mitchell troupe, juggling and rolling globe act, at Main and Pickaway-sts.

The horse and pony parade will follow the half hour concert. This parade will assemble

the Conley trio, sensational high pole performers, perform at Court
and High-sts, and the second half of the concert will be heard.

At 10 p. m. the Flying Arbaughs
will show at the courthouse.
Circleville's public schools will be dismissed at noon Thursday for the duration of the Pumpkin Show
according to action by the board of education Tuesday evening.
Friday will be a full holiday for pupils. According to an announcement by M. S. Cox, superintendent of county schools, no official move has been made by
that department as to vacation for county pupils for the Pumpkin Show, jurisdiction being left entirely to the individual schools.

Bands to perform this evening
besides the school band are the American Legion drum corps and the Hallsville band.

OHIO FARMERS APPROVE PLAN

L. B. Palmer Says Emergency
Credit Move Would Be Boon To Nation.
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Registering almost immediate approval
of President Hoover's plan to create an emergency credit corporation the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation today issued a statement saying such a corporation "can be great value to the public at large as was the war finance corporation during the World War."
The statement of endorsement
was issued by L. B. Palmer, president of the state farm bureau and a member of the state board of agriculture, who said the plan
should prove to be of great value
to farmers.

PROFESSOR'S TRIAL DATE IS ARRANGED

HAMPTON, Va., Oct. 7.—The trial of Elisha Kent Kane, professor of language at the University of Tennessee charged with deliberately drowning his wife, today was set for December 8.
Professor Kane was indicted by a grand jury on a first degree murder charge yesterday.
He denies the charge indicating his defense will be that his young wife died in the water from heart trouble.

WALTER DARST, 73, FORMER PUBLISHER, IS DEAD

Guest of U. S. Soon

This excellent portrait study of Premier Pierre Laval of France is among the most recent to be made of La Patrie's "Man of Destiny."
Premier Laval will shortly visit Washington at the invitation of President Hoover to discuss international economic problems.

LINDBERGH TO END VACATION

Leave Shanghai at Once For Yokohama to Board Steamer; Arrive Oct. 20.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 7.—Deciding to return at once to America because of the death of Senator Dwight W. Morrow, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, Mor-row's son-in-law and daughter, announced today that they would leave Shanghai tomorrow.
They will sail at 9 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m. eastern Standard time today) on the Japanese liner Shanghai-Maru for Kobe, Japan, travel overland to Yokohama and board the American steamer
President Jefferson, which left Shanghai this morning bound for Seattle.

The decision of the Lindberghs to conclude their vacation trip in the Orient was made following the receipt of a telegram from Mrs.
Lindbergh's mother at Englewood,
N. J. They plan to reach Englewood about October 20.
Today the Lindberghs remained in seclusion at the American con-sulate generals as the guests of the American consul and Mrs. Edwin Cunningham, receiving few callers.

Scores of telegrams expressing condolences to Mrs. Lindbergh reached her from all parts of the world.
Among the callers whom Mrs.
Lindbergh received was Virginia
Smith Cooper, representing the American women's club of Shanghai, who brought a bouquet of roses.

STUDENTS HEAR DRY LAW ATTACK

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 7.—The charge that prohibition violates local self-government principles today heard by W. H. Stayton, chairman of the Association
against the Eighteenth Amendment, in an address before Ohio Wesleyan university's "prohibition
class."
"Your generation must decide whether the United States shall be an empire run from Washington or a republic of self-government," Stayton said. Dr. Ernest
H. Cherrington, head of the World League Against Alcoholism, will be the next lecturer.

DEDICATE PROGRAM TO PUMPKIN SHOW

The broadcast of Mary Pickens
Mitchell and Howard Greeno over station WSEN Tuesday evening
was dedicated to the Pumpkin
Show which opens this evening.
Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Greeno broadcasts every week over WSEN
and will comply with any request received.

ANCHOR PLACED ON LIPTON BIER

GLASGOW, Oct. 7.—An anchor formed of flowers from his London garden was the only decoration today upon the coffin of Sir Thomas Lipton, famous British merchant and sportsman, as his body was brought back to his native city for burial.
There were several automobile-
loads of other flowers, however,
including a number of wreaths
sent by friends of the noted
yachtsman in the United States.
Following simple funeral services, Lipton was to be buried in the Glasgow city cemetery beside his parents. He died last Friday in London at the age of 81 after suffering a chill during an automobile ride.

PROSPERITY PROGRAM OF HERBERT HOOVER ENDORSED IN PRINCIPAL BY PARTY LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A stupendous prosperity program, proposed by President Hoover as a means of lifting America out of economic depression, was endorsed in principle today by congressional leaders of both major parties.
The program was presented to ranking senators and representatives of the president at a three-hour conference in the White House last night. They immediately and unanimously approved it
"in principle," though withholding judgment on the details. The president then appealed to the American people to support it.
PROGRAM LISTED
Briefly, the program included:
1. Mobilization of the financial resources of the nation by the bankers themselves, through creation of a $500,000,000 institution to stabilize the banking structure of the country. This great banking corporation is necessary, the president said, to offset the "wholly unjustifiable withdrawal of currency from some banks" and to maintain the liquidation of all banks in case of necessity. All banks were invited to help finance
it.
2. An appeal to local bankers to "make some advances on the security of the assets of closed banks (in their communities) or to take over some of these assets" in order
that partial dividends may be paid
to depositors in advance of the legal liquidation.
3. Appropriation of $60,000,000
by Congress to strengthen the resources of federal land banks
through the purchase of additional stock, in order to furnish additional credits to farmers at low interest rates.
4. Amendment of the federal reserve act to liberalize its redis-
count provisions in order to provide a "greater assurance to the bankers in the granting of credits,
by enabling them to obtain legiti-mate accommodation on sound security in time of distress."
5. Creation, if necessary, of a finance corporation "similar in character and purpose to the war finance corporation, with available
funds sufficient for any legitimate call in support of credit."
6. Announcement by the president that he would propose to Premier Laval, of France, an extension of the war debt moratorium when they meet late this month. The conference declined to be bound by any agreement reached between Mr. Hoover and Laval but promised to give it fair
consideration if he submits a proposal for extension to Congress.
The president also appealed to ample to the rest of the world by

HALLAHAN AND HOYT TO HURL TODAY'S GAME

Wild Bill Opposed By Veteran
Right Hander in Fifth Contest.

BULLETIN
SHIBE PARK, PHILADEL-PHIA, Oct. 7.—Walter Hoyt, veteran right hander, who has an impressive record for world series
pitching, was nominated by Manager Connie Mack to oppose Wild Bill Hallahan on the mound in the fifth game of the series today.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The passing policeman today paused
in his parading and commented:
"Well, we done some deciding."
"Who decided—what?"
"Why, us Athletics," he returned. "We was in kind of a muddle.
We didn't know whether we was ballplayers or matinee idols. So we decided yesterday afternoon
that baseball is the racket we should stick at and you seen how we blackjacked them Cardinals."

FACE TOUGH ONES
"Then everything's hot'sy tot'sy
now?" I asked.
"Hell, no," he spluttered. "How kin it be that when all we got ahead of us is the job of beating up Hallahan and Grimes, which is a couple of mugs that made us
look like guys doing a trapeze act.
But, of course, that was when we were just strutting around and flipping our tail feathers and making non-cholly-ance motions that
them cigarette people tell about
in their ads."
"But things is different now.
We know we gotta play ball with all we've got to play with, and when we're doing that we're just as liable to put a bomb under Hallahan and Grimes as we did
under the other guys Gabby Street sic'd onto us."

"Who'll you pitch this after-

HAMILTON CUTS YOUTH, IS JAILED

James Hamilton, an amateur
pugilist, carried his aspirations too far Tuesday evening when he struck Norman Leasure of the "Knock-em-stiff" district of Rossco, cutting Leasure's right arm at the elbow. Whether Hamilton wielded a knife or not is not known.
Hamilton was fined $25 and costs
by Mayor B. T. Hedges and sentenced to serve 10 days in the county jail. In default of payment of the fine he will have to serve that also.
Leasure exhibited a bruised lip
where he said Hamilton struck him
with a stone.

Donahey Urges State To Study Economic Relief

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—The voice of former Governor Vic Dona-hey rang with old-time authority
today, urging the state to delay
its quibbling over the prohibition question and give its undivided attention to economic problems.
Vigorously censuring any and all candidates who would allow the strength of the state government
to be endangered in a time of crisis by seeking personal and party benefits, Mr. Donahey told International News Service he will take the stump in 1932 to wage a hearty campaign against greedy office-seekers.

IGNORES CALL
Repeated calls upon him to be a candidate for governor, vice president or president will be ignored and he will go out into the state, free from politics, to warn Ohio against electing selfish candidates at a crucial period in its history, he said.
Sharp, ejaculatory sentences,
driven home by the Donahey fist
pounding on a desk, helped express his wish that the liquor question
be temporarily shelved.

GANG WARFARE FATAL TO TWO

Controversies Over Bootleg Trade Thought Cause of Gun Duel Today.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 7.—Gang warfare, believed to have been incited by controversies between rival bootleg gangs, flamed anew in Toledo today when two men were shot and killed and a third was seriously wounded.
The victims were Norman Platz, 25, and Abe Lubitsky, 24. They were killed instantly. Harry Abrams, 23, was taken to a Toledo
hospital in a serious condition.
The three men were riding in their automobile on Bancroft-ave
when two other machines pulled alongside and the occupants poured several volleys of lead into the victims' cars, police said. The gun wielders sped away quickly.

OPERATES C. C. C. HIGHWAY TRANSFER

Fred Bradbrook, local transfer man, announced today that he is in no way connected or associated with the Suburban Motor Freight Line, as was stated in Monday's Business Review.
Mr. Bradbrook severed relations with this company sometime ago
and is now operating the CCC Highway Co. He may be reached on Circleville phone number 231.

JURORS INDICT 6 PERSONS IN 2-DAY SESSION

Two Secret Indictments Returned Tuesday With 10 Ignored Bills.

Ten true bills, two secret indictments and 10 ignored cases were reported by the October grand jury late Tuesday afternoon. The jurors were in session two days,
beginning Monday morning.
"True bills," as decided by the jurors, were against:
John Richards, of Ross-co, for stealing an automobile;
Robert Martin, alias Christopher Martindale of Commercial Point,
for burglary and larceny of the S.
Court-st Kroger store;
James McNeal, Ashville, for cutting with intent to wound, Alfred Van Fossen;
G. W. Mathewson, alias F. E.
Austin, of Columbus, for obtaining money under false pretense. He was charged with selling insurance to Mrs. Spindler, Rocky and Sexauer in Ashville, and after obtaining money, failing to provide the insurance.
Edward Cordell, alias Harry Williams, for burglary and larceny of the store of Harry Trego
of Commercial Point;
George Reeves of Perry-twp.,
on two counts, one possessing intoxicating liquor and possessing implements for the manufacture of liquor.

TREGO IGNORED
Ignored cases were against Allen "Buck" Trego for assault and battery on his wife who requested
that the charge be dropped;
Arthur Strawser for assault
and battery;
Harold Pettibone of Ashville,
for carrying concealed weapons;
George Speakman, this city, for non-support;
George Reeves, Perry-twp., for manufacturing liquor;
Richard Sampson, for non-support;
Edgar Stough, for failure to provide;
Elmer Splawn, for assault and battery;
James Mumaw, for non-support;
Pearl Brooks for issuing a check
without funds.

DEARTH FOREMAN

Walter J. Dearth, this city, was foreman of the jury which consisted of Mrs. Anna Scheiser, Eva Friedman, Clyde J. Hoover, Mrs.
James Higgins, James Hatfield,
Mrs. Lizzie Leist, Jesse Rose,
Fred Pressing, Mary Neuding,
John Dick, Joe Smith, Mrs. Nellie Dunkle, Mrs. Goldie Beckett and John Haynes.

The prisoners who have been indicted will probably be arraigned the fore part of next week, according to Judge Joseph W.
Adkins.

NAMED BY COURT

C. C. Schwarz, this city, has been named administrator of the estate of the late Helen L. Schwarz in probate court.
The estate is estimated to be worth $500.
No appraisers were appointed.

SAMPSON ESTATE

The estate of the late Isaac
Sampson, Perry-twp, was valued at $1408.50 in an inventory and appraisal returned in probate
court.

Creighton and Charles Dawson
were appraisers.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ralston
of Circleville R. F. D. 2, announce the birth of a daughter at Berger
hospital Tuesday night.

Tribute Paid To Statesman

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 7.—
This little city, the nation and the world poured out their poignant sorrow today in a last sad tribute
to their lost friend and leader,
Senator Dwight Morrow.
Led by Vice-President Curtis, representing President Hoover, a distinguished group of friends and associates, including almost every member of the family, assembled for the simple funeral services at the First Presbyterian church followed by equally simple burial
rites in Brookside cemetery.
There was no pomp, no eulogy,
no honorary pall-bearers, no
pageantry at the funeral. The family said Senator Morrow would have wanted it so.

LEGAL DISCUSSION DELAYS AL'S CASE

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHI-CAGO, Oct. 7.—A legal discussion
over the status of one of the jurymen marked the opening of the court move today at the trial of Al Capone, Chicago's "public enemy
number one," for alleged violation of the income tax law.

SHOTGUN IS FATAL

GALLIPOLIS, O., Oct. 7.—Ten-year-old Donald McCloskey was dead here today, the victim of a shotgun discharge fired accidentally by his five-year-old brother, Derrell. The younger boy rested
the gun on a bed when he fired.

JAPS DEMAND CHINA ACTION

Issue Ultimatum Ordering Protection to Nationals In Other Country.

TOKYO, Oct. 7.—Serving a virtual ultimatum upon China demanding protection of the lives
and property of its nationals, the Japanese government today announced strong detachments of warships would be dispatched to the Yangtze valley unless the required guarantees are given immediately.
The battle fleet, coaled and held ready at Japanese ports for immediate departure, consists of twenty-four destroyers, four cruisers,
with a number of airplanes ready for action.

FLYERS HERE, PLAN PRORAM

Waco Plane To Be Stunted
Each Day at 1 P. M.; Many Features Are Planned.

Thrills for the Pumpkin Show crowds in the form of airplane
stunting has been arranged by the Pumpkin Show society with an air circus which will be located at the Critics field on the Chillicothe-pk,
south of this city.

Homer Baughn, flying a fast
Wright, whirlwind Waco will loop, spin, half-roll and fly upside down
each day at 1 p. m. Show rolls are considered among the most difficult air stunts. The aviator is nicknamed "Upside Down" Baughn
by his friends because of his smooth inverted flying exhibitions.
Passengers will be carried during the Pumpkin Show in this fleet plane and in Bill Maycock's Stinson. Something new is offered according to W. J. Wed-del, manager for the flyers, in the form of high altitude passenger trips. Special trips to altitudes of one to two miles have been arranged.
The flyers are making their headquarters at the Boggs Hotel.

G. O. P. LEADER DIES

TIFFIN, O., Oct. 7.—Clyde C.
Porter, former probate judge and prominent Republican leader, was dead here today at the age of 55.
He died unexpectedly although he had been an invalid for the last ter years.

HORN IS STOLEN

James Sampson, 305 E. Franklin-st, told police that the horn was taken from his Ford roadster parked in the rear of W. Main-st, Tuesday evening.

BICYCLE GONE

lice that a little boy's bicycle was stolen from the garage at her home
at 6 p. m., Tuesday.

WELL KNOWN MAN CLAIMED IN HOSPITAL

Publisher of Circleville Herald From 1883 to 1927 Passes Away

FUNERAL IS FRIDAY

Mr. Darst Was a Native of Pickaway-co

Death took the life of Walter C. Darst, aged 73, former local publisher, at Berger hospital at 12:15 a. m.
Wednesday. Diabetes caused his death after he had been a patient in the hospital for the past nine days.
When he was taken to the hospital Mr. Darst was in a serious condition and after he had been a patient there a few days, it was learned it was but a matter of time until death would take its toll.
Walter Curtis Darst was one of the best known men in Pickaway-
co. He was born near this city,
Aug. 9, 1858, the son of Jacob and Anna Brown Darst. He came to this city when a child, his father
engaging in the dry goods business.

NEWSPAPER MAN

When a young man, Mr. Darst became associated in the newspaper business. He worked for John Ray, and then with his brother-in-law, Charles Murphy
purchased The Circleville Herald.
He later purchased the interest of his partner, and operated it as The Circleville Herald, daily, until November, 1927, when he sold the newspaper to The Circleville Publishing Co., under which name it is now operated.

A sister, Lillian, deceased, was at one time widely known as a writer.
Mr. Darst was married, Nov.
14, 1888, in Norfolk, Va., and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Daisy Emma Darst, one brother, Edward Darst, of Doylestown, Pa., a sister, Miss Marion Darst, of Doyle-
town, Pa., and a half-sister, Mrs.
C. W. Murphy, of Atlanta, Ga.

He was a member of the Episcopal church and the Circleville Lodge of Elks.
Funeral services will be Friday
at 3 p. m. at the M. S. Rinehart funeral home. Rev. David Mc-Donald of Lancaster, former pastor of St. Philip's church, officiating. Burial, which will be private,
will be in Forest cemetery.

The body is now at the funeral home where friends are requested to call any time after Thursday
noon.

BRUENING TO FORM CABINET

Entire German Organization Resigns; Hindenburg Orders New One Formed

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—President
Paul von Hindenburg today signed an emergency decree embodying a sweeping program for German economic reconstruction and instructed Chancellor Heinrich Bruening to organize a new cabinet with increased dictatorial
powers.
The cabinet resigned in a body,
after which the president authorized Bruening to form another ministry, ignoring political parties in filling the cabinet posts and picking the ablest leaders representing both capital and labor to deal with the nation's problems.

Quick and drastic action, the president told Bruening, was necessary "to save the country
from ruin."
The new emergency decree,
comprising 30 folio pages, will regulate industrial development
and capital expenditures along lines followed by the Russian Soviet government.

3 MILLION DOLLAR HOLDINGS ON SALE

BULLETIN
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—Sale
of the property owned by the Superior Power company of Alliance
as a single unit at a public auction to be held on the Starke-co
courthouse steps was ordered today by Federal Judge Samuel H.
West to satisfy a $2,749,884.29
judgment against the utility.
The judgment, dated Oct. 3 and filed today, was handed down by Judge West in favor of the New York Trust company, plaintiff.

Earnshaw Hurls Greatest Game Of His Career

Catcher Philadelphia Athletics (News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—We didn't stop the great Pepper Martin yesterday in the fourth world series game, with the St. Louis Cardinals, but we did win and climb onto even terms with the National Leaguers with two victories apiece. Pepper Martin single handed wasn't enough to overcome marvelous pitching by George Earnshaw and timely hitting by the Athletics.

Earnshaw had everything in blanketing the Cards with two hits—a single and double by this remarkable Pepper Martin. I don't hesitate to write that Earnshaw pitched the greatest game of his fine career yesterday. His control was well-nigh perfect. He put the ball right in the spot where the Cardinals are supposed to have weaknesses. That is, all but Martin and apparently he hasn't a weakness at the plate.

That fat ball of Earnshaw's came zipping down the alley with the speed necessary to keep most batsmen from taking a toe-hold. Under such condition there was no need to even call for a change of pace. His fast ball, straight and curved, was more than enough to win.

Monday night after Martin had been retired the last two times at bat, I thought we might have discovered Martin's weakness. I was wrong. We fooled him the first time on a low inside curve, causing him to fan for the first time in the series. In his second time up he caught hold of a fast one high and outside for a torrid single to left. We switched back to the low inside curve the next time up.

And what did he do but reach down to around his shoetops and sock a double to left. What can you do with a man like that?

Earnshaw and myself watched Martin carefully when he was on first base in the fifth inning. When Wilson fanned for the second out, I had an idea that Martin would try to steal. If he waited for Gelbert to hit and Charley didn't that would bring the pitcher up as the first batter in the sixth and there's no advantage in that. If Martin could steal he'd be in a position to score and if we caught him the Cards would have Gelbert to lead off in the next round with a pinch hitter ready to supplant Johnson.

With two strikes on Gelbert, I signalled for Earnshaw to throw over a high fast one. I put by glove up around Gelbert's shoulders as the spot for George to pitch to. This is the one time George's control was off. He rifled a low pitch that caused me to dig with my glove and by the time my throw reached second Martin was there. Pepper surely can tear down the base lines. He's stolen four times this series. I'll watch my glove today, he may try to steal this too.

Our club is hitting now. We were trying to beat down. Connie noticed this in the second and third games and before yesterday's scrap he called us into the clubhouse and gave a five-minute talk.

That's what Foxx, Miller, Dykes, Bishop, Haas and Simmons did. They swung normally and came through with the singles and extra base hits needed to beat Sylvester Johnson. We should keep on going today for now we're getting the hitting to back up excellent pitching.

DENISON TO MEET OHIO U.

Don Peden's Fullback is Injured In Butler Contest; Goes To Hospital.

ATHENS, O., Oct. 7.—One more injury has occurred to lengthen the list of crippled veterans of Ohio University.

Shifted from a half to the full-back position in the Bobcat starting lineup against Butler Saturday, Leonard Sadosky, Cleveland took a hard bump on the head which fractured his cheekbone. He was shortly thereafter removed to University Hospital, Columbus, where an operation was performed Monday to relieve pressure on the eye which had caused blindness.

In the Butler game the Bobcats looked more like the machines of 1929 and 1930 than at any time thus far this year. Real offensive power and precision in the execution of plays was demonstrated.

Ohio made 18 firstdowns to Butler's two. Total gains from scrimmage were 394 yards for the Bobcats to 67 yards for the heavy team from the Indiana capital.

Coach Don Peden substituted freely against Butler using in all 27 players. Henry Corradini, Flushing, who shared time with the veteran Clark Gabriel, Piqua, at quarter, was perhaps the best performer among the non-starters. Corradini accounted for two of Ohio's six touchdowns.

One fact was impressed upon the Bobcat coaches and that was that without Gabriel in the line-up they were without a dependable booter for those often vitally important points after touchdown. This week will see several Cats plunking the ball in effort to get it over the crossbar.

Ohio faces Denison next Saturday in the opening Buckeye Conference game for both schools. While the Bobcats anticipate a battle they have confidence in their ability to win and if need be open up with everything to gain the decision.

Wisecracking The Series

—With John P. Medbury.

Copyright, 1931, by International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—Since last Friday, John Martin, St. Louis' bad boy of the bases, has been practically running the world series; but today the Athletics put "Pepper" back in the can.

In the second inning Tuesday Mr. Martin walked up to the plate and hit nothing but the Philadelphia climate. He tried his best though, and fanned so hard that he changed all the weather reports.

John's mind wasn't on the game. He was suffering from a terrific headache as somebody had hidden a couple of Mexican jumping beans under his toupee.

Later on in the day he did manage to get a couple of hits and in the fifth inning stole a base in order to hold his franchise.

He slid into the bag and was safe, although the umpire wanted to fine him two dollars for not making a boulevard.

Gabby Street, manager of the Cardinals is trying to make base running easier for Martin, so he bought him a couple of Austins; one for each foot.

Earnshaw pitched a great game but got so twisted in his wind-ups that once or twice he almost threw himself over the plate. I doubt if it would have made much difference though as the Cardinals were batting so poorly they probably couldn't have hit him either.

Connie Mack used a neat little piece of strategy to keep the St. Louis players off the bags. He hung a "Scarlet Fever" sign on all the bases. This ruse worked with every man except Martin—Scarlet fever doesn't mean a thing to John; he's color blind.

Max Bishop scored the first run for the Athletics. He wanted Manager Street to be able to keep the wolf from the door but he couldn't keep the Foxx from the home plate. Jimmy, wanting to show that there was no depression on the Philadelphia team, stepped up with his bat and knocked a valuable dollar and a quarter ball right out of the park.

It was the hardest smack ever driven over Mr. Shibe's fence. It sailed north, going through a street car window and breaking the wrist of the conductor who was ging south.

It was about this time that the Cardinal pitcher and catcher went into conference. It seems that the pitcher was throwing a lot of spit balls which were very obnoxious to the catcher.

Mr. Wilson, however, was quite tactful and asked Mr. Johnson if he'd please dip the balls in listerine before he threw them.

This particular ball was no doubt very repulsive to Mr. Foxx too, and not having a bottle of Listerine handy, decided that the best thing to do was to knock it out of the park.

This, however, is only hearsay. I couldn't get either the pitcher or catcher to confirm it as even your best friends won't tell you.

EX-COLLEGE STARS MEET

24 States Represented When Cleveland and Portsmouth Tangle Tonight.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 7.—Ex-college stars from 24 states will cavort at Universal Stadium here tonight at eight o'clock when Portsmouth's Spartans, leaders in the National Professional League battle Al Cornsweat's strengthened aggregation of Cleveland Indians.

Stuart McMahan, Cleveland center, put a match to 1800 acres of wheat on his North Dakota ranch before coming east to bolster the Indians at the pivot post. Cornsweat, a Rhores scholar at Cambridge in off years, is playing himself at fullback, the post he held with fame at Brown University three seasons ago when Brown trounced Harvard so severely Jessen, former Ironton Tank tackle Mundy of Kansas Aggie fame Algie Clark and Howard Kriss Ohio State halfbacks of recent years, are other Cornsweat men who will lend color to Wednesday's nocturnal scramble for league honors.

Portsmouth will probably start its famous wingers Ebbing and McKaib and open with Clark Colorado; Presnell, Nebraska, Helm Alabama and Lumpkin, Georgia Teck in the backfield.

Gridders Invade Lair Of Bexley

Despite the fact that his team was somewhat aggravated over its 24-0 defeat at the hands of Grandview last week, Coach Pete Herberholz of Bexley Red and Black have been working plenty hard these past few days on the high school gridiron in preparation for then tilt with Bexley, its second Central Buckeye League opponent Friday.

The game will be played on the Bexley field and is expected to be a good contest. Bexley has suffered two defeats the past two weeks, such as the Tigers have experienced and both teams will probably be fighting for a victory.

George Brenning, Carlton Smith's Bexley fullback and triple-threat man, has been carrying the brunt of attack for the Lions in their past contests and will probably continue to do so Friday, but members of the Tigers are out to stop him if they don't accomplish anything else.

Coach Herberholz scouted a Bexley game several weeks ago and has been using their plays this week as a means of defense for the first squad.

George Iles, who was out of the backfield last week because of an injured hand and Bill Hegele, center who was also injured are expected to be in the starting lineup Friday.

Tickets to the game may be secured from the senior class booth, located on E. Main-st. The game is scheduled for 3 p m and the team will leave the school building at 1:30 p m.

CENTRE TEAM IN WITTENBERG

School Made Famous by Bo McMillin to Invade Springfield Grid Friday.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 7.—Wittenberg's veteran football team may strike a tartan in Centre at the Lutheran stadium in a night game Oct. 9.

After winning the Kentucky State Intercollegiate Athletic association championship for the past two years Centre has a crew of veterans and husky sophomores who appear headed for a year of success comparable to those of Centre teams of a decade ago.

Coach Ed. Kubie was a member of that Wonder Team that beat Harvard in the undergraduate days of the famed "Bo" McMillin, and football has been on the upgrade at the Kentucky school ever since he became grid leader.

Centre has three veteran ball carriers in Hasara, 165 pound quarterback, Kotler, a halfback with much experience from last year, and Chief Tenekat, the Indian halfback who has made the S. I. A. A. team for the last two years.

At New York—Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, knocked out Pal Silvers, New York middleweight (2).

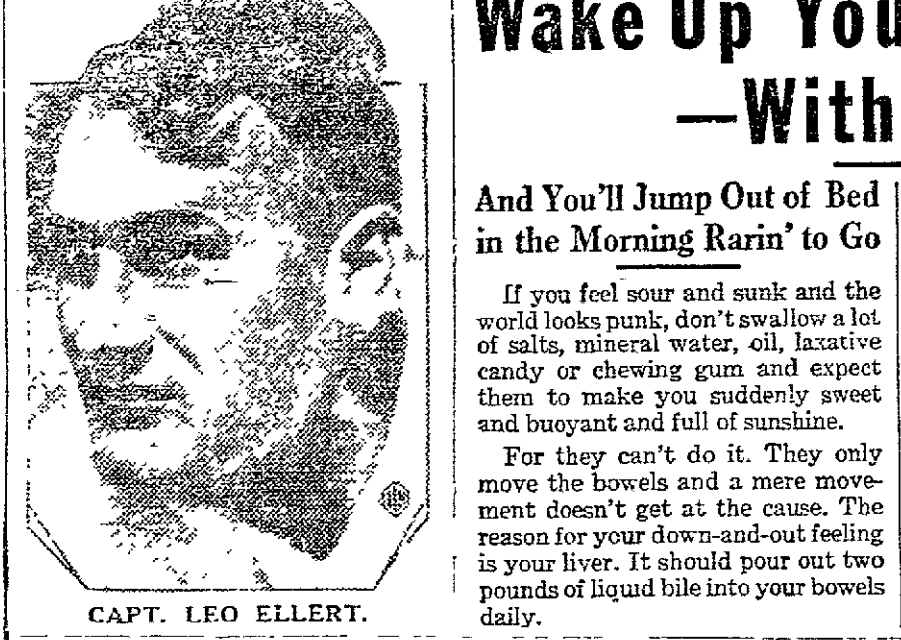

Mateo Osa, Spanish heavyweight, knocked out Dan Jury, Milwaukee (1).

At Flint, Mich.—Jack Thompson world's welterweight champion, knocked out Tommy Jones, Florida (3).

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do this. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

Importance Of Welfare Issue Is Commented On

COLUMBUS, O.—Importance of popular approval of the state bond issue of $7,500,000 for welfare institution development was emphasized by William J. Kennedy, assistant director of welfare, in a statement issued today.

"If the voters will consider the needs of helpless state wards which Governor George White stressed in his messages to the legislature I am sure they will agree with the Governor that we must make a beginning of remedying the overcrowded, hazardous and shameful conditions in our institutions," Kennedy said.

"They will vote on nothing more important on November 3 than this bond issue for welfare purposes. If they approve the issue of $7,500,000 in bonds they will benefit thousands of men, women and children dependent upon the state for care. The bond issue is a humanitarian measure and in no sense political since a welfare commission appointed by the former Republican administration agrees with the present Democratic governor that deplorable conditions exist in the welfare institutions and an adequate program of building is necessary to relieve them."

"I urge the voters to keep in mind these facts to guide them when they come to vote. 'Yes' or 'No' on the bond issue ballot: Every dollar of this bond issue will be spent on actual physical improvements, no part of it going for increased salaries or maintenance. The improvements planned will require great quantities of material and large forces of labor and thus contribute to relieving the unemployment situation in Ohio. No direct levy of a single dollar on the real estate or personal property of any taxpayer is provided for in the bond issue. The bond issue resolution as passed by the legislature provides that the bonds and interest on maturity shall be retired out of the general revenue fund.

"It is especially important to remember that the issue will cause no additional tax burden on real estate.

"When last year's fire at the Ohio penitentiary, in which 322 lives were lost, called attention in dramatic fashion to the state's neglect, newspapers, public-spirited organizations and citizens generally demanded that the state face its obvious duty by providing funds for expansion and rehabilitation.

"Out of that demand which Governor White presented to the general assembly has grown the plan which provides for the first actual steps to eliminate conditions that have been tolerated through the years."

LEGAL CONFUSION RETARDS MERGERS ARTICLE RELATES

A lot of business men who classify as "big" profess to see in the anti-trust laws a threat to the peaceful existence of our large corporations, most of which are the result of consolidations, says an article on mergers. They claim, too, that proposed mergers which would work out to the public good are held in abeyance because of uncertainty as to what the law will consider proper and they condemn the present anti-trust laws as too rigid, restricting and hampering for the general good. However, this article continues, the unprejudiced observer sees little reason for worry on the part of business men or the people. The laws as they are now seem to be admirably suited to the needs of both of the American people and of American business.

Supreme Court decisions have clarified a number of questions and have given business a pretty fair idea of where it stands. The principles governing what a merger can and cannot do, under the law, were rather definitely set down under what has been called "the rule of reason."

The first principle is that a merger may be within the law even though competition between the merging companies has been eliminated.

The second is that it makes no difference whether one company buys the assets of another or controls it through stock ownership. The legality of a combination depends not upon its form but upon its purpose.

The third principle set forth is that the intentions of those connected with a merger are the test of its legality.

Generally speaking, modern mergers are most often formed for the sake of realizing perfectly proper advantages usually in the way of economies of production, distribution and administration. And these advantages rebound not only to the benefit of the consolidations but to that of their employees and customers—which is to say the general public.

It is probable that the public has also realized that it generally gets fair treatment from the big company, even those that come close to having a complete monopoly in their respective fields.

All these things make public opinion; and the wise judge interprets such a flexible and general rule as the Sherman Act in accordance with common experience and public opinion. Monopolies are no longer greatly feared, for business men have learned that to raise prices unduly is usually hurtful to business.

There is also a strong feeling that excessive competition is not necessarily a boon to the consumer. Too much competition is wasteful and in the end the public always pays for waste of any kind. On the other hand it is now generally recognized that a merger holds potentialities of effecting notable economies in production, distribution, administration and financing which are not possible to the component companies acting as independent units. It is the general policy of American business to pass on to the consumer part, at least, of the economies realized—not from altruistic motives but selfishly, in order to increase the consumption of the products and so increase profits.

The question today swings on the real objective of the merger, as exemplified by its attitude and policies toward its customers, employees and competitors. If it works for the good of the public by effecting economies which result in lower prices, if it keeps wages at a reasonably high level and if it does not attempt to suppress competition, it is in no great danger of prosecution.

CAPONE FINDS HIMSELF IN NEW LIGHT AS POPULARITY WAVES

BY MARGARET LANE
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Al Capone finds himself today in a position that is new to him. He is a center of feverish interest; but that is an old experience. He is on trial in Chicago—but that has happened to him before. What he is not so used to is having to face the fact that this trial may be the beginning of the end for him. He realizes that he has been on the crest of the wave just about long enough.

A curious change has lately come over the public attitude toward the underworld king of Chicago. Until recently everything he did was a matter of glamorous interest. He might be a racketeer, but * * * like a highwayman, there was a dangerous romance about him.

People were awed by his power. In his rare appearances in public there was always a score of men

DRIVER OF BUS HALTS ESCAPE

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 7.—A bus driver was credited today with preventing the escape of four Toledo convicts en route to the Mansfield reformatory after he leaped upon them when they attacked Deputy Sheriff John Michallin of Lucas-co.

Clarence Henderson, driver of a city bus, subdued the four prisoners and hurried them to the reformatory where they were placed in solitary confinement.

years ago. But his wealth is the only remaining symbol that he is still a king. He is getting a little "past it," perhaps, and they speak of him with increasing contempt and impatience in his own town.

The charge that he faces is superficially a trivial one—evasion of income tax. Not on the face of it, a criminal offense. Merely that Capone has made a lot of money by illegal methods and the state resents the lack of revenue. It is not the business of the state to enquire how taxable incomes are made.

The serious aspect of the charge, for Capone, lies in three other things. He is being brought up against Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, the easy-smiling, hard-hitting judge who once before warned Capone that he was not to be bartered with. The charge reveals that the old terror of Capone and his men has died down, for, when Judge Wilkerson summoned a panel of prospective jurors, there were comparatively few attempts to avoid serving on the jury—a singular difference from the usual behaviour of jurors when faced with the possibility of having to pass sentence on a powerful gangster. And on top of all that, there is an unmistakable excitement surrounding the trial—the excitement of a public that would be pleased to get its man.

Pape's
DIAPEPSIN
Compound

AN OLD FRIEND IN A NEW BOX

INDIGESTION

Here's good news for your stomach! A new, handy pocket size of Pape's Diapepsin. Eat what you want, and all you want, without one pang of indigestion. Just carry this harmless stomach stimulant. Take two or three tablets after eating. Then enjoy serene digestion.

Pape's Diapepsin tablets are as pleasantly eaten as candy. No sourness, no gas, no distress two hours after meals—no sensation but hunger for the next meal. Don't diet; don't deny yourself. Use Pape's Diapepsin.

You purchase shoes, fruit and candy. You call for cigarettes.

It's like this: WHEN YOU GO TO BUY A PAIR OF SHOES, you examine the leather, the way the shoes are made, their shape. You try them to see if they fit—if they satisfy you.

Why not follow the same method in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes that are made from the very best tobacco—mild, ripe, sweet. You want them made right. You want them free from harshness and bite and "pinches." In other words, you want cigarettes that satisfy you.

WHEN YOU GO TO BUY FRUIT—oranges, grapefruit, apples—you want ripe fruit, fruit that has matured before being taken from the tree; fruit that has been handled right and packed right; fruit that's the same throughout—not green on one side and ripe on the other.

Why not apply the same test in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes made from tobaccos handled right by the farmer—ripened, sweetened in the sun and cured right. You want cigarettes that taste the same, day in and day out. You want them pleasing in taste—mild and satisfying.

WHEN YOU BUY CANDY, you want to know, above all things, that it is pure. Is it real candy or are there a lot of other things mixed in with it? And you want it fresh. You want it freshly made and you want it so packed as to reach you just as it was when it was made.

Why not apply the same test when you buy your cigarettes? You want a cigarette that's pure; for purity counts in cigarettes just as it does in candy. Then again, you want a cigarette that's just as fresh as when it was made.

Now, if you apply to cigarettes all the tests that you apply in buying shoes and fruit and candy you will purchase CHESTERFIELD like millions of other smokers.

First, because tobacco men will tell you that in Turkey, Kentucky, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, and Maryland, only the mildest, ripest tobacco is bought for CHESTERFIELD—tobacco cured by the sun's pure rays, by the farmers' slow-burning ovens, and finally by great high-pressure steam drying machines. In the tobacco regions where they grow tobacco and know tobacco, CHESTERFIELD is usually the leading seller.

Second, because the carefully selected CHESTERFIELD tobacco leaves are blended and cross-blended. This exclusive CHESTERFIELD blending method is not just mixing together different tobaccos—it is mixing them in such a way as to bring out the finer qualities of each. It's like producing a new and better type of tobacco—tobacco with greater mildness, more smoothness, much better taste.

Third, because the cigarette paper is selected with the same care. CHESTERFIELD paper is the purest, the best that money can buy. Then the cigarettes are made and packed by machinery in clean, sanitary factories. And the moisture-proof, attractive package—free from heavy inks or inky odor—comes to you just as if you passed the factory in the morning and took your CHESTERFIELDS from the machine.

Good . . . they've got to be good.

TODAY'S GAME

noon?" I asked.

Well, plenty of Padookas have it all figured out that it will be Walberg. Maybe it will be Walberg. But why should it be Walberg? He's a lefty, and he? So is Groat. Now this Groat went up against the Cards twice and they cracked him for 23 hits in 17 innings, didn't they? So what's the use of experimenting with another lefty after the way they banged up the best southpaw in any league? So, the way I see it, I think we ought to start Hoyt, who is an experienced fellow, or maybe we even could take a chance on Mahaffey. They're both right-handed and judg'ing from what the Cards have not done to Earnshaw, I reckon a right-hander is the correct choice.

LIKELY TO GO UP

"You afraid of Hallahan?"

"No," replied the law. "I'll tell you why. He was a wild man when he came into the big leagues and, although he's tame now as a regular thing, you never can tell about lefties. They're liable to bust out any minute with an act that will make that circus freak from Borneo seem like a colie pup."

"Take last Friday when Hallahan beat us. The score says he shut us out and allowed only three hits. Sounds like he pitched an airtight ball game. But that ain't so. Four times in the last part of the game we had him in a bad spot. If any of us can crash through with a hit, bingo goes the ball game for those Cards. But we was strutters then—just promenading around like some chorus girls from one of Ziggy's shows. And we let Hallahan beat the rap and knock us for a row of goose eggs."

"But that was last week, see? This is today. Hall, the gang's all here again. We're just a rough, tough lot of ballplayers now, realizing we've got the fight of our careers ahead of us if we want to win those Cards will have to get themselves some good shock absorbers if they don't want to get run over and killed when we're rushing around their sacks."

"WHAT OF PEPPER?"

"What about Martin?" I inquired.

"Oh, yeah—funny thing about him," answered the paused policeman preparing to pass along on his beat.

"When we hear about him pulling all that crook stuff in Saint Louis we think what we ought to do is nab him when he gets here and put him in the cooler. Anyway we're all set to do that when what do you find out but that night here in this town where he is public enemy number 1, number 2 and number 3, the fans go daffy about him. Yes, sir. They like to see him tearing around and stealing our bases and us cops around this town and catch him when he would make a bunch of a guy which is a hero."

"I wish," concluded the patrolman in passing, "that this Martin could open a school and teach this town and that some of our players would become scholars. We could stand having a few crooks graduated by Prof. Martin. Well, so long. Allez oop and cheero."

MORROW'S DEATH GREAT LOSS TO REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The death of Dwight W. Morrow, financier, diplomat and statesman, besides removing an outstanding figure from the political arena, today left the Republican party bewildered but still in control of the senate.

The loss to the party was severe. Long an authority on diplomatic and financial policies, Morrow was regarded as nearing a like leadership in congressional affairs. His death left a chair in administration councils that will be difficult to fill.

The Republican party also must begin a search for new presidential timber for the 1936 race. Morrow was looked upon as a certain nominee of the party five years hence and there were many high administration leaders who hoped to draft him as Mr. Hoover's running mate next year if Vice President Curtis should run for the senate from Kansas.

The administration had come to lean on Morrow. It was known that President Hoover wanted him to lead the coming fight in Congress for approval of his debt moratorium. The president also wished his advice on the presentation of America's program at the forthcoming Geneva disarmament conference.

The executive likewise would have delegated to Morrow an important post in pushing the administration's strict economy program through the new Congress. Now, the president must find new leaders for these policies.

Other factions will miss Morrow as well. He had planned to lead a fight for recognition of Russia, it was learned. Then, there was his stand on the liberal side of prohibition. While he was not an ardent or active foe of prohibition, his mere presence in the wet ranks gave them a prestige no other man in the senate offered.

The Republicans continue to control the senate. The new vacancy will be filled by appointment of a Republican by New Jersey's Republican governor, Morgan F. Larsen. The appointee will be a wet, according to reports reaching Washington, and a Republican having the endorsement of David Baird, Jr., the party's nominee for governor in the November election, former Senator Joseph F. Frelinghuysen was mentioned for the job. Franklin D. Fort, former Republican national secretary, was out of the picture because of his dry attitude on prohibition, it was said.

A proffer of service nationally, to assist in any way possible in the present emergency has been made on behalf of the Boy Scouts of America by Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, to Walter S. Gifford, director of President Hoover's Organization for Unemployment Relief.

On behalf of the committee Mr. Gifford has expressed thanks for the proffer.

Boys and leaders in the Movement, Dr. West said, are ready to give service in the same spirit that Boy Scouts gave service in Liberty Bond campaigns and in other nationwide activities during the World War. It is stipulated, however, that the services of the boys must not be utilized in any way that would replace men or otherwise increase unemployment.

"Great care," Dr. West says in a bulletin addressed to Scout Leaders, "should be exercised in planning these service opportunities for Scouts so as to avoid having Scouts do those things for which a wage would ordinarily be paid."

Dr. West recommends that the Scout authorities of the more than 600 Boy Scout Councils take prompt steps to offer the services of Scouts and Scout leaders for such help as may be given to the representatives of the Gifford Committee and to such local committees as may be organized.

MANY SERVICES POSSIBLE. He points out that Boy Scouts can do many things for which there are no funds for wages, such as providing uniformed messenger service for relief committees, collecting and distributing food and clothing, gathering statistics, and gathered will later be sent to Scout Troops in all parts of the United States to be planted as living memorials to George Washington.

HONOR SCOUT BENEFACTOR

The entrance to Camp Miamokanda, the Toledo, Ohio, Boy Scout Camp, has been beautified by the construction of a stone gateway embellished by a bronze tablet and recently dedicated to Thomas A. DeVilbiss. The plaque, modelled after an original arrowhead, carries a memorial inscription to the late Mr. DeVilbiss, acclaiming him for his interest and work in the Boy Scout Movement, and his efforts while President of the Toledo Council.

APPLIES TOURNIQUET

While running after her brother in their home at Mystic, Conn., Mary Watts crashed into a glass door which her brother had shut. She plunged through the glass, severing an artery in her arm. An unidentified Boy Scout applied a tourniquet and staunch the flow of blood.

Boys Scouts of Toledo, Ohio, and its vicinity just completed a canvass in their respective neighborhoods for 100,000 glass jars suitable for canning to be used in a like manner. At Akron, Ohio, a similar effort has been entered upon.

Boys Scouts of Wilmington, Del., picked and carted hundreds of baskets of fruits on behalf of the needy.

At Waterbury Conn. the relief committee is utilizing the services of the Boy Scouts in collecting clothing. On a recent Saturday alone the Scouts collected three carloads.

Five thousand Scouts of Buffalo, N. Y., are to visit every home in the city and while they will not actually collect clothing, they will hand registry cards to householders to indicate an appointed time for trucks to call for garments.

Boys Scouts in Ottumwa, Iowa, in one day collected a ton of clothing for the needy.

Similar activities on the part of Scouts in the collection of clothing are reported at St. Louis, Mo.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Hartford, Conn. At St. Louis, matinees at forty-three neighborhood theatres had as admission price a bundle of clothing. Scouts assisted at each theatre in collecting and piling up the bundles before they were called for by trucks loaned by the Park Department.

SERVE AT G. A. R. REUNION

More than 2,000 veterans, members of the dwindling Grand Army of the Republic, who gathered recently at Des Moines, Iowa, for their sixty-fifth national annual reunion, found upon their arrival, 1,200 Boy Scouts of the city and nearby communities, ready to render many services for them.

It is estimated the Boy Scouts collectively rendered 48,000 hours of service. Groups of Scouts went on duty for nine days. Scouts met trains from early hours until late at night, helping the veterans off trains, carrying baggage and seeing them safely to their hotels. Others escorted the delegates from the hotels to the registration booths. Many of the veterans visiting the city's points of interest found the Scouts to be alert, intelligent guides. In addition to serving various officers of the G. A. R. convention, they also maintained first aid units.

One of the outstanding pieces of service was performed in connection with the G. A. R. parade when Scouts served as color bearers, marched with the veterans and assisted in handling the throngs along the route of the parade.

Convention officials praised the services rendered by the Scouts. Representing the Boy Scouts of the city, Scout Robert Aiken accepted a silk American flag the gift of the Ladies of the G. A. R. as a token of the appreciation of the organization. When all was over the boys continued their service until the last veteran had departed.

VICE-PRESIDENT TO GATHER WALNUTS WITH BOY SCOUTS

Vice-President Charles Curtis will go to Mt. Vernon with a group of Boy Scouts from Alexandria, Va., Takoma Park, Md., and Washington, D. C., on Monday afternoon, October 5, to help gather walnuts from the trees on the Mt. Vernon lawn. The walnut seeds service was performed in connection with the G. A. R. parade when Scouts served as color bearers, marched with the veterans and assisted in handling the throngs along the route of the parade.

JURY INDICTS COP'S SLAYER

Two Counts Included in Indictment; Policeman Slain Making Arrest.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Twirling the wheels of justice swiftly, the Franklin-co grand jury today returned a first degree murder indictment here against Willard N. Jordan of Ashland, O., charged with the slaying of City Patrolman Leslie M. Green during a street gun brawl last Sunday.

The indictment against Jordan contained two counts—one of first degree murder and the other of shooting an officer in the performance of his duty.

Jordan will be arraigned on the grand jury indictment probably tomorrow, it was understood.

Jordan's case was one of the first to be called before the grand jury this morning. The rapidly with which the case was carried to the jury nearly set a record in the annals of Franklin county criminal cases, according to Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins, who presented the case this morning.

Patrolman Green was shot down Sunday afternoon as Jordan attempted to escape following his arrest by Detective Earl Heise in connection with tire thefts from a Bucyrus store last Saturday.

EDISON IS WEAKER

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 7.—Thomas A. Edison, hovering within the shadow of death, today was reported "much weaker" and unable to sit up any longer.

PROSPERITY PROGRAM

ample to the rest of the world by exhibiting a confidence in the integrity of the country. In his formal statement, he expressed considerable agitation over the withdrawal of currency from banks. He declared such "runs" were a "definite impediment to agricultural and business recovery" and "wholly unjustifiable" in view of the strength of the American banking situation.

"The time's call for unity of action on the part of our people," the president said. "We have met with great difficulties not of our own making. It requires determination to overcome these difficulties and above all to restore and maintain confidence. Our people owe it not only to themselves and in their own interest but they can by such an example of stability and purpose, give hope and confidence in our own country and to the rest of the world."

DISCUSS PROPOSALS

All the suggestions for restoration of prosperity came from the president. His audience of congressional leaders merely discussed the proposals, agreed to them in principle but refused to be bound by any detailed plans which may be submitted later to Congress.

There was no discussion of disarmament, reparation, current suggestions for limiting short-selling on the stock market or a special session of Congress. Some of the president's guests planned to bring up these subjects, but the lateness of the hour when the discussion ended on the president's personal program, blocked further debate.

The conference, however, forced Mr. Hoover to change one item on his program—that relating to extension of the war debt moratorium. After the president read his original suggestion, which some congressional leaders interpreted as binding the conference to endorsement of an extension of the moratorium, he agreed to re-write the provision before making it public. In his formal statement, he specifically announced that the question of extending the moratorium had not been submitted to the conference for a decision.

DEBATE ON MOVE

There was considerable debate on the moratorium and it was plainly indicated to the president that some Democratic leaders and a few Republicans would oppose a further extension at this time. Even Senator Watson, administration leader of the senate, declared "we cannot make a decision on that at this time."

The suggestion to appropriate additional capital for the federal land banks also drew fire. A number of Democratic Senators, including Robinson, minority leader of the senate, and Harrison, party spokesman, protested against the present conduct of land banks in foreclosing farm mortgages. They demanded to know what the money would be used for before committing themselves to its appropriation. The president suggested dividing $60,000,000 between the twelve land banks but he did not include this in his formal statement.

The president's suggestions on strengthening the banking structure of the nation were given hearty endorsement. For one thing, these suggestions do not require congressional action, except for revision of the federal reserve act. There was real enthusiasm over his proposal for a $500,000,000 banking institution, to be financed by banks, as a sort of stabilization corporation for the banking interests. A number of congressional leaders agreed with the president that withdrawals of currency were unjustified and that steps should be taken to restore the public's confidence in banks.

EDGE BIG SUM

The president announced that the New York City clearing house association already has pledged $150,000,000 toward the creation of such an institution. He said he had received assurances of support from bankers in other large cities.

"I consider that it is the national interest, including the interest of all individual banks and repositories, that all the banks of the country should support this movement to their full responsibility," the president said. "It is a movement of national assurance and of unity of action in an American way to assist business, employment and agriculture."

The proposal for broadening the law covering rediscounting of credits by the federal reserve system, drew approval too, although there was no unanimity of opinion over the details.

NOTICE GIVEN TO HORSE SHOW-MEN

Saddle horses for the horse show must be at the Main and Pickaway-st. location not later than 7:30 p. m. Friday to get ready for the show at 8:00 o'clock, according to Elmer Coles, in charge of this department. All ponies must be on hand at noon Saturday.

Ernest Sheehey, pony fancier, has offered his nine ponies for use in the show and will be located at the Memorial Hall corner where rides can be obtained.

MURDER MYSTERY SEEN, 2 ARE DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A twin murder mystery confronted police today with the finding of two bodies apparently of men each wrapped in a burlap bag in the rear of a sedan automobile.

The corpses were trussed with the knees of the victims under their chins.

A whale has been brought to the city for the Pumpkin Show and will be exhibited at Court and Pinckney-sts through the four-day event.

This show will provide a lot of interest.

RIOT DEATHS JUSTIFIABLE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned today by Coroner A. J. Pearce in the death of John Grayford, 34, who was one of the two persons slain in a communist riot here last night.

Coroner Pearce indicated that he would return a similar verdict in the death of Edward Jackson, 45, the second victim exonerating police of blame in connection with the killing. Both of the dead men were negroes.

The condition of two policemen and two civilians who were seriously wounded in the rioting which started when police attempted to investigate a meeting of three hundred communists at a home in the "roaring third" district from which a family was evicted yesterday was reported improved today.

The American Family Is Seen as Fast Discarding Home Ties and Affection

CHICAGO.—As a social unit, the American family is steadily losing its old self-sufficiency and in the last thirty years has relinquished many of its former duties and pleasures to agencies outside the home.

This conclusion was reached by John Dollard in his doctoral dissertation field at the University of Chicago.

Dollard divides the family functions into seven classifications: economic, educational, recreational, health, religious, protective and between statistics for 1900 and 1930.

Contrasting the older rural type of family with the modern city family in the economic functions, Dollard pointed out that, where formerly women remained at home, they increasingly have become breadwinners. In 1900 only one woman out of seven was employed outside the home while in 1920 one of every four was a breadwinner.

In 1929, out of every three working women one was married, Dollard said.

Almost every economic activity of the family, from tending the furnace to planning the interior decorating, gradually being put into the hands of specialists outside the home.

Schools are usurping the family's educational functions. Between 1900 and 1928 the average attendance of children in public schools increased 100 per cent, and expenditures for public schools increased 4.1 times as fast as did the number of families.

Formalized outside agencies are taking over the family's recreational functions, Dollard said. In 1852 there was not a single municipal park. In 1928, 1,680 cities had such parks, and between 1922 and 1927 the number of trained workers in urban recreation increased from 11,000 to 20,000.

Weekly attendance at the movies has tripled between 1922 and 1930. Baseball attracts 12,000,000 annually and football 25,000,000. Tennis has a following of 1,000,000, and golf 4,000,000.

Between 1909 and 1929 hospital service grew more than twice as fast as the number of families.

Religious functions also are being taken outside the home. Sunday school teachers increased 45 per cent in the last thirty years, and the average contributions to the church increased at least 50 per cent.

Increase of the number of child guidance clinics show that the parent no longer is presumed to be the natural expert on child-raising.

Decline of the family as a protective institution is revealed by life insurance which has grown almost ten times as fast as the family.

Family affection, although it is difficult to measure, may be revealed by the decreasing number of children in the family. Divorces, on the other hand, gained 292 per cent between 1899 and 1929, and that out of every 100 actions for divorce, 36 are cases in which children are involved, which necessarily is a disrupting experience.

"The loss of certain functions of the family need not mean its decline; it will rather offer the opportunity for a more effective integration if we are able to perfect the social techniques," Dollard concluded.
